

YOU'RE INVITED TO

A NEW HIGH-IMPACT PRACTICE

OPEN EDUCATIONAL RESOURCES

This workshop will help you learn how to find OER, incorporate them into your courses, and even publish your own with support from the university.

A new study by the American Association of Colleges and Universities (AAC&U) recognized open educational resources as a high-impact practice, only the twelfth to earn this designation in nearly two decades. High-impact practices are teaching approaches that research consistently links to stronger student outcomes, like undergraduate research and first-year seminars.

Friday
September 25, 2026

11:00 AM - 12:00 PM

Online via Zoom

Join the Zoom

PRESENTED BY

Mary Isbell

Associate Professor of English

A recipient of the University's William L. Bucknall Excellence in Teaching Award, Dr. Isbell is nationally recognized for innovative, student-centered teaching and open pedagogy. Her work focuses on creating engaging learning experiences that position students as active partners in the learning process.

CONTACT US

CTE@newhaven.edu

<http://cte.newhaven.edu>