

CANVAS ESSENTIALS: POWER UP YOUR TEACHING FOR THE SPRING SEMESTER

Join this interactive session to power up your courses with the Digital Learning team

In this workshop, you will discover:

- Creative Content Ideas: Tips and tricks to save time and enhance your course materials.
- Assessments in an AI World: Ideas for creating assessments that are more resistant to AI.
- Tools for ADA Compliance: Essential tools and strategies to identify and resolve ADA issues within Canvas.

By the end of this session, you will be equipped to:

- Efficiently create and manage content in Canvas.
- Develop robust assessments that maintain academic integrity.
- Ensure your course materials are accessible and compliant with ADA standards.

ABOUT THE SPEAKERS

Cindy Gallatin

Associate VP for Digital Learning Initiatives

Cindy Gallatin has been working in Higher Education for over 25 years. Having worked at the intersection of education and technology, Cindy brings her expertise in online instruction, and her career has included marketing, sales, admissions, curriculum development, teaching, and extensive management experience.

Kevin has experience working in an array of industries including an award-winning design and branding firm, an independent record label, video production, higher education, and in the corporate arena. Kevin is an instructor both online and on-ground in various colleges teaching both English literature and composition as well as Communications courses.

Kevin Gardner

Director of Digital Learning Design

Crystal Cohen

Director of Online Learning Technology

Crystal assists faculty with integrating teaching and learning technologies into their pedagogy, research and other professional activities. She has more than 10 years of experience delivering technical training as well as teaching online courses.

Friday Feb 7, 2025

ONLINE

11AM - 12PM

Zoom Link: <https://unewhaven.zoom.us/my/unewhaven.cte>

CONTACT US ►

Contact CTE : cte@newhaven.edu

<http://cte.newhaven.edu>